

MOORS TERRORIZE ALL EUROPEANS

Foreigners at Casa Blanca Flee, Despite Protection of Warships.

MOORS ARE BURNING CORPSES

European Refugees Attacked as They Embark to Safer Points.

TANGIER, MOROCCO, August 3.—The situation at Casa Blanca grows steadily worse. Two steamers arrived here to-day, bringing refugees, the Constantin, carrying 250 Jewish and a number of French refugees, and another steamer with 400 persons aboard, including many Europeans. All those arriving here report the situation as most alarming, the town still being in the power of the natives. All the Europeans at Casa Blanca have been taken aboard the steamers anchored in the harbor, and panic reigns in the town.

There have been numerous skirmishes between the guards and the tribesmen, and a number of Moors were killed. The French cruiser Galilee arrived at Casa Blanca on Wednesday morning and is awaiting reinforcements from Algeria before making a landing.

So many conflicting reports from various sources are reaching here that it is difficult at this time to give an accurate statement of the situation at Casa Blanca.

Disinter and Bury Corpses.

TANGIER, August 3.—Another steamer has arrived, bringing four hundred refugees from Casa Blanca. These refugees were not permitted by the natives to leave in peace. In spite of the presence in the harbor of the French cruiser Galilee, a large body of Moors attacked the Europeans as they were embarking. They appeared, however, to fear reprisals, for they soon desisted, and proceeding to the Christian cemetery, dragged out a number of corpses from the vaults and began to burn them. A body of troops arrived and opened fire on the Moors. A number of them were killed, and the hand was dropped.

At the request of the consular corps here the Galilee desisted from bombarding the villages, and re-embarked her landing party. The consuls feared reprisals.

France and Spain Join Hands.

PARIS, August 3.—According to a semi-official note issued to-night, in view of the inability of the Moroccan government to suppress the disorders at Casa Blanca, France and Spain are negotiating on the matter of sending a joint expedition to the harbor to assure the security of all citizens of all nations and the punishment of the guilty. The note adds that the proposed expedition "which should be temporary" is quite in conformity with the spirit of the Algeiras agreement.

GRIDIRON CLUB SEES BIG SHOW

Leading Washington Newspaper Correspondents Have Enjoyable Day at Exposition.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION GROUNDS, August 3.—Members of the famous Gridiron Club, of Washington, D. C., were the guests of honor of the exposition company to-day. They made a complete tour of the buildings, grounds and the "Warpath" of the tercentennial and were warmly received wherever they went.

Arriving at Old Point on the Norfolk and Washington steamer at 7:30 this morning, the party, some fifty or sixty strong, were entertained at the Chamberlin Hotel for breakfast, after which they embarked on one of the Water Bolt Line steamers for the Deepwater pier, arriving there at 10 o'clock. Here they were met by a party of exposition officials with automobiles and camels and a squadron of Captain Carpenter's mounted guards, who escorted them to the Inside Inn.

After several pictures of the party had been taken in front of the hotel, the procession moved on again, the camel riders discarding their Eastern mounts, however, for seats in the automobile. The stop was made at the Inside Inn, a building on the grounds, and the members of the party taken through each one, with the result that the final consensus of opinion was that the Jamestown Exposition was one of the most magnificent and beautiful expositions ever held. At the completion of the tour of inspection, the party was taken to the Swiss Alps Village, where a most enjoyable luncheon was served.

Among the prominent guests were Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. E. A. Tamm, Commissioner West and Mrs. West, of the District of Columbia, Director-General Barr, and other officials of the exposition, together with the members of the Gridiron party.

A display of fireworks took place on the parade grounds at 8 o'clock to-night and at 9 o'clock another tour of the Warpath was made. The visitors spent the night at the Inside Inn.

To Jamestown Island. Starting at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning from the Deep Water Pier, the members of the club and their guests and many of the officials of the exposition will go to Jamestown Island on an excursion steamer, and will return to Old Point Comfort at 4 o'clock. At 4:30 o'clock a grand swimming carnival will be held in the swimming pool at the Chamberlin Hotel, and all the members of the club are expected to take part. Dinner will be served at the Chamberlin at 6 o'clock, and at 7 o'clock the party will leave for the national capital, reaching there at 7 o'clock Monday morning. In the party are: David S. Barry, Mrs. David S. Barry, C. K. Berryman, Mrs. C. K. Berryman, J. H. Cunningham, Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, Arthur W. Dunn, Mrs.

HEALTH NOTES FOR AUGUST.

August is the month of internal catarrh. The mucous membranes, especially of the bowels, are very liable to congestion, causing summer complaint, and catarrh of the bowels and other internal organs. Per-una is an excellent remedy for all these conditions.

Arthur W. Dunn, Mrs. Jessie B. Acker, Arthur J. Dodge, Miss Dodge, Miss Elizabeth Bagley, Richard Lee Fearn, Mrs. Richard Lee Fearn, Miss Mildred Fearn, E. J. Gibson, Miss Honora D. Gibson, F. A. G. Handy, Mrs. F. A. G. Handy, Miss Margaret P. Handy, Henry Kaiser, John P. Miller, Miss Charlotte Miller, Alexander Mosher, Miss Adelaide Herndon Mosher, Richard V. Oulahan, Mrs. R. V. Oulahan, Mrs. L. S. Sario, Mrs. D. Pfeiffer, George W. Rouzer, Mrs. George W. Rouzer, Mrs. Shriver, Mrs. Clarence Shriver, Miss Olivia B. Shriver, J. Henry Small, Jr., Mrs. J. Henry Small, Jr., Edgar C. Snyder, Mrs. Edgar C. Snyder, Alfred J. Stoffer, Charles Willis Thompson, Mrs. Charles Willis Thompson, Miss Thompson, Henry L. West, Mrs. Henry L. West, Mrs. J. Arthur Williams, Mrs. J. Arthur Williams, James Rankin Young, Miss Julia C. Young.

JUDGE PORTLOCK HAS BUSY TERM

Norfolk Jurist Has Been on Bench Every Day for Month.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., August 3.—Judge William N. Portlock is now in the midst of the longest and most strenuous term of his court since he was elected to the bench. More than a month ago he convened the July criminal term of the Circuit Court, and it will not be until the 12th instant when the term will be adjourned. Through the entire month there has not been a day that the judge has been idle. He has been on the bench every day until the term is adjourned, there yet being much business to be done. The principal business transacted at this term was the investigation into the violations of the liquor laws by the so-called clubs and saloons in Western Branch District and at New Beach.

NEW COTTON MILL.

Barringer Company to Build at Once at Mount Pleasant, N. C.

MT. PLEASANT, N. C., August 3.—Mr. Paul Barringer, of this place, has succeeded in organizing the Barringer Manufacturing Company to manufacture cotton. The capital stock is to be $150,000, and the plant will be equipped with 5,000 spindles for manufacturing No. 30 two-ply skein yarns, to be installed and cloth manufactured later. Electric power will be used to drive the textile machinery, the electricity to be furnished from the waterpower development of the Whitney Company, of Salisbury, N. C., whose plant is at Whitney, twenty miles from Rockwell, and will be supplied with power by next January.

Messrs. Paul Barringer, J. W. Cannon, of Concord, N. C.; C. M. Poole, J. M. Holshouser, Charles M. Kluttz and others are the directors. Mr. Barringer will be president.

Enterprise Mills. STATESVILLE, N. C., August 3.—Paola Cotton Mills have just given a contract to T. C. Thompson & Bros., of Birmingham, Ala., for erection of mill buildings. These buildings are for the Paola Company's 5,000-spindle cotton-yarn mill. The capitalization of the new enterprise is $100,000, and Eugene Morrison is president.

SAG HARBOR, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Physicians here are somewhat perplexed by an epidemic of sore throat, which has resulted from the dust raised by automobiles. More than two hundred persons have been attacked by the malady, which, although of an aggravated form, disappears after the second day. No deaths have occurred.

Editors Favor Taft and Bryan. CINCINNATI, August 3.—The local newspaper editors here, who are to vote some four hundred editors, every State being represented, asking for opinions as to the coming candidates of the two great political parties. Editors of 250 locally independent newspapers were preferred. The results of this canvass were published to-day.

Two hundred and eighty-eight editors thought Roosevelt would carry the congressional districts, and 89 thought he would not. With Roosevelt being favored by their districts, Knox being next choice, with 22 editors.

As to the Democratic candidates, 199 named Bryan as most favored; Folk, Johnson and Culberson were named by 1 editors each.

Sixty-nine editors thought Taft would be the next President; 64 named Roosevelt, and 37 had confidence in Bryan's chances to be elected.

Hargrave in Jail Again. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] HANOVER, N. H., August 3.—The supposed epileptic, Edgar J. Hargrave, Jr., is in jail here again for contempt of court. Rev. Hargrave was out on bond for $100,000, and was charged with selling whiskey without a license. This is the second time the ex-minister has been in jail here. The first time he was in jail several months.

Magill and Wife Killed. CLINTON, ILL., August 3.—Fred H. Magill and wife, who were on their way to St. Louis, were killed by a train to-day. The bodies were recovered at 5:00 a.m.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

President Makes No Comment. OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 3.—President Roosevelt received the news from the Associated Press that Judge Landis had decided against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and had imposed a fine of $250,000, but he made no comment on the decision.

GREATER ADVANCE FELT AMONG ARMENIANS

Investigation of Recent Assassination Shows Existence of Gigantic Conspiracy.

TOOL OF BLACKMAILERS

Assassin, Who Thought He Was Doing Patriotic Act, May Make Full Confession.

NEW YORK, August 3.—Bit by bit the police and the district attorney's office are gathering together the threads of what they believe to be one of the most gigantic conspiracies ever discovered in New York, and which was brought to light by the assassination of a short time ago of Hovhannes S. Tavshanjian, the wealthy Armenian rug importer, who was shot down in Union Square by an Armenian named Harmanian, a Khazarian, who was charged with the murder.

To-day it was declared that the assassin, through his attorney, made overtures to District Attorney Jerome which may lead to a full confession on his part. Mr. Jerome replied that he could promise nothing in the way of clemency, but urged the prisoner to tell of the plot and those who are responsible for it.

The assassin believed that in killing Tavshanjian he was doing a patriotic act, but as he gradually becomes convinced that he was only the tool of a band of blackmailers, it is believed he will divulge the entire plan as well as the names of the individuals.

Mr. Boghosian added another name to the two by which his cousin had been known to the police, saying that his name was Bedros Hovhannessian.

Among the prominent Armenians against which death threats had been made, was the late Hovhannessian, who was Armon P. Alon, of East Orange, N. J., whose place of business is in New York; Bedros Kazanjian, of New Rochelle; and Mr. Kalaghi, who has an office in New York and a rug factory at Freehold, N. J.

Threatening letters, which they received, announced that they were to be killed to-day or Monday. All these men are guarded by detectives.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian, whose life has been threatened were hastily summoned from Europe, where they were traveling, and arrived in New York. Karaghi, when he met them at the steamer was accompanied by two private detectives, who were heavily armed. He said he had been ordered to protect the guards, and that there were two of them with him constantly. He recalled his family from Europe, he said, because he thought it was safer for the family to be together.

The family of C. M. Karaghi, another Armenian,